

Introduction:

The movement in chapters 10 & 11 speaks to the urgency of sharing the “good news,” end-time warnings, and the announcement of the imminent second coming of Jesus in these last days. In other words – time is running out, and there are bitter-sweet experiences ahead for the people of God, but the promise of their overcoming is soon to be realized. Once again, we will see God's judgment, the righteous' valiant life during oppressing times, and the triumph of God in this great controversy. The victory and the vindication of Heaven's order are announced with the blowing of the Seventh Trumpet. God continues to reveal His plans for the story's ending while encouraging the church to remain faithful till the end through the vision of the “The Two Witnesses and The Seventh Trumpet.”
